

Optical Prism

THE MAGAZINE FOR EYECARE PROFESSIONALS

Canada's new face

Frames for new Canadians

Where and how is the country
growing?

Funktastic frames

Canadian design house Spectacle Eyeworks is back at it again with its recent RETRO collection bringing the 80s back. Adding to the collection's popular 50s and 60s-styled pieces, four new models bring a little more edginess to the bold and wearable looks. Each style is available in five colours—some patterned and others with wood grain or marble finishes—and built with TR 90, which is a durable material 20 per cent lighter than plastic. All frames include a signature case and two year warranty.

For more information, visit www.spec-eyeworks.com

Patterned perfection

With colour seeping from top to bottom, Kliik's release KL451 leaves nothing to cause an eye to wander. Inspired by the textiles, lace-like perforated patterns and prints cover this full-rim acetate frame. A vintage shape allows the translucent design to give off a romantic look in black and crystal, purple and blue, burgundy and rose, or khaki.

For more information, visit www.kliik.com

